Government: Your house or your soul?

Government: Your house or your soul? - Devil's question.

Description:

This is a video script of our major milestone conversation with the government in regards to our refusal to finance their atrocities with our taxes, almost 3 years since we have handed out our Declaration.

Jesus was right - it's easier for a camel to go through an eye of a needle than for a rich to enter the kingdom of God. That's because the keeping of a property excludes any possibility of keeping your integrity. We're feeling this absolute truth now.

- [Maria:] Olga?
- [Olga:] Yes.
- [Maria:] Hi, I'm Maria. Nice to meet you.
- [Sam:] Hi, I'm Sam.
- [Maria:] Sam?
- [Rob:] Sam, I'm Rob. Nice to meet you, Sam.
- [Maria:] Alright.
- [Olga:] So, in your last letter. I'm not sure. Did you sent this letter or somebody else already?
- [Maria:] Yes, so the tax department sent, yes.
- [Olga:] So, we just wanted to make sure that we are well understood. Judging by the attached financing form, or a sort of, it seems like you're assuming that we are unable to pay and are offering us some options. So, we just wanted to make it clear that the reason we are not paying is not our financial inability to do so. We've been quite successful in business. (Olga at last work made $350,000 a year, which you guys can dream on. My work, also…)
- [Maria:] That's alright. That's OK. So, you're not paying for other reasons. OK.
- [Olga:] Yes, but because of our disagreement with the corruption of the government. On which I sent you already many letters. I hope you read them.
- [Maria:] Yes.

- [Sam:] Has anyone beside you seen those letters?
- [Maria:] So, you were addressing them to me, right? So… what our concern is you're falling into arrears, as you can see that, and we were trying to reach out to you to let you know the severity of the situation, obviously. When you're falling into 3-years arrears, there's a point when we could tax out your home, right? [1]
- [Sam:] Are you saying you're thieves, robbers?
- [Olga:] But you don't answer the prime issue with this.
- [Maria:] So, what is that?
- [Olga:] The corruption of the government.
- [Rob:] Our government?
- [Olga:] Yes.
- [Rob:] Municipal?
- [Olga:] Well, the money eventually goes to provincial, and to the top. So, every money we'd be contributing would be ending up in the corruption, in the army, standing in Mali right now, where Canadian mining companies are operating, financed totally by the Canadian government, into private pockets, so abusing people… [2]
- [Rob:] So, I'm just trying to understand, so you both work, both have jobs?
- [Olga:] We stopped for awhile.
- [Rob:] So, you don't work. You don't have jobs.
- [Olga:] Jobs? No. We've never had jobs for long time. We've been independent contractors.
- [Rob:] Ok, so you're independent contractors.
- [Sam:] We have money.
- [Rob:] OK, I understand, but do you pay interests, do you pay business tax?
- [Sam:] We don't pay.
- [Rob:] You don't pay any tax, so the federal government also has an issue?
- [Sam:] Since we understood what magnitude of this corruption…
- [Maria:] Do you record it?
- [Sam:] Yes, I do record it.
- [Maria:] OK, that's fine.

- [Olga:] We're been investigating this issue right now.
- [Sam:] Of this corruption.
- [Maria:] OK, that's fine. So, you have your views…
- [Sam:] It's not our views.
- [Maria:] You're entitled to your views. All I'm trying to tell you is you're falling into significant arrears, and if you refuse to pay, it'll eventually go to the tax sale. So, you've been warned many times.
- [Olga:] But we also warned you about the atrocities of this government. And you didn't answer the main issue, the reason why we're stating this. We're not just fooling around. I had to put aside my business. I keep receiving the invitations, which I cannot… Because two years in a row I'm spending investigating this issue. We're citizen journalists now. That's what we are. So, no, we're not getting paid, we're not greedy to get paid all the time, we're not holding for jobs like you do, and are not selling our souls like you do. Because this doesn't stop. You're closing your eyes for the entire issue! People are dying over there!
- [Maria:] Alright, this is your opinion, and that's fine.
- [Sam:] It's not our opinion. It's universal truth.
- [Maria:] All I'm trying to tell you that if you do not pay this, we're going to have to register, and it's going to go to tax sale. It's just as clear as that.
- [Olga:] Do you pay for the services which you're not satisfied with, or zero services, 'cause that'd be the case equal to what we have right now.
- [Maria:] You get zero services.
- [Olga:] Do you just give away your money, without receiving the service?
- [Maria:] I can't force you to pay your taxes, but if you don't…
- [Sam:] What do you do to liars? Do you like when people lie to you?
- [Maria:] If you don't want to pay the taxes, and you want to incur 15% a year in counting interest, and then a fee to register – this letter's quite clear of the severity of the situation, then I can't force you to pay. But I have been warning you since the letters I've been sending you that if you continue want to not pay, it'll go to tax sale.
- [Sam:] We obey the law of love. You, what kind of people are you, you're obeying the law of violence. We're true Christians. Do you know what Christianity is? Do you believe in God?

- [Maria:] Yes.
- [Sam:] No, you don't. You don't! If you would believe in God…
- [Maria:] OK, but we're not talking about religion here, we're not talking about God. These are your property taxes.
- [Sam:] No-no-no, everything, every day of your life, my poor friends, is connected to God. That spirit, or morality, inside you, each of you, should vibrate right now. I see you're shaking already a little bit.
- [Maria:] OK, look, you have all your opinions.
- [Sam:] Listen to me.
- [Maria:] No, you listen to me. You can have your opinions and everything. I just want to make sure – your opinions, you can hold on to them and not pay this – I've already warned you, it's gonna be registered and it's gonna go through the tax sale. It's clear, it's simple as that.
- [Sam:] And I'm warning you – every step you take against us, or anyone else, with such issue, you are criminal. You are a robber. You are a murderer.
- [Maria:] Everyone who lives in a municipality, pays property taxes.
- [Sam:] We live on God's land!
- [Olga:] Well, people are sleeping.
- [Sam:] We didn't borrow from you a penny, people.
- [Olga:] People don't realize what's behind it. We believed that, too. We've paid a lot of money for property taxes, for this property, for previous property.
- [Sam:] When we realized that, I cried.
- [Olga:] We believed in it. If that was true, if you change your structure, we will pay. We will contribute to society.
- [Sam:] You're serving such an evil, my poor people. You have no idea about it.
- [Maria:] So, have you come to make any payment or you just come to give me your opinion on why you're not paying.[3]
- [Sam:] It's not our opinion.

- [Maria:] What, are you going to make payment today, or we're going to register your property.
- [Sam:] No.
- [Maria:] Now? OK, that's fine.
- [Sam:] No. Never.
- [Maria:] OK, well. You know the consequence, right?
- [Olga:] But you know this is extortion.
- [Rob:] It's not extortion.
- [Olga:] Yet it is.
- [Sam:] You're extortionists and criminals.[4]
- [Rob:] On a property, in a city, you're expected to pay taxes.
- [Olga:] Why would we?
- [Sam:] We don't live in a city.
- [Olga:] Who owns the property?
- [Rob:] You do.
- [Maria:] So, how did you get here? Did you drive on the streets?
- [Sam:] Of course.
- [Maria:] How do you think those are maintained, those roads?
- [Olga:] Roads are created by God – land.[5]
- [Maria:] Oh. OK. Alright.
- [Sam:] If you've hijacked all roads…
- [Olga:] By the way, in Newfoundland the entire township pays $175 a year for garbage collection, and they don't pay any property taxes per se. You didn't know that? We can send you the link to the video, by CBC.[6]
- [Maria:] These are the taxes to live where you live. This is assessment, times your tax rate.
- [Olga:] It's not fair.
- [Maria:] You don't use any city services?
- [Sam:] No!
- [Maria:] The city services are there, whether you use them or not.[7]
- [Olga:] Why do you use force? If you're so benign. You're trying to extort us.

- [Sam:] You're using force. How are you going to force us from house? How are you going to force?
- [Rob:] We would follow Municipal act. And within that, there are rules.
- [Sam:] Police will come, huh?
- [Rob:] I don't think so.
- [Sam:] Your rules are based on force.
- [Rob:] Do you have a mortgage?
- [Sam:] No.
- [Rob:] You have no mortgage.
- [Sam:] No.
- [Rob:] OK. 'Cause if you had a mortgage, when we register, that mortgage company will become aware…
- [Maria:] They'll probably act before we do.
- [Rob:] So, you don't have mortgage on title?
- [Sam:] No.
- [Rob:] If I pull it out, there's no mortgage on that. OK. So then at the end of the day we'll to tax sale.[8]
- [Maria:] So, we'll go to tax sale, and people put bids, and the highest bid will get the home, and legally it'll be their home.[9]
- [Sam:] You're extorting house from us. So, no honest people can have a roof above their heads, right?
- [Rob:] Why honest people? You are the only 1 of 175,000 properties in Hamilton who are not paying taxes.
- [Sam:] We are the only ones who are honest. I announce to you this.
- [Maria:] I appreciate your… I know you're saying it's not your opinion, and everybody has an opinion. I get it. But these taxes are not for discussion. These are due.
- [Sam:] Opinions – you guys have been long time, since your childhood, you went to school, you get brainwashing. You get to university – you get brainwashing more. Then there're piles of this propaganda media, which is all newspapers, media… Who owns this? Corporations. Corporations own your government. Here there's no Trudeau here. Trudeau is a puppet. Puppet of the big system, corrupted like… it's not even the word 'corrupted', it's rotten. It hasn't happen yesterday. And ten years. Harper, they're all the same.

- [Maria:] And that's fine, what you think. But right now, like Rob and I are here to see if you're going to pay your taxes. If you're not, then I don't know what's the point of us meeting. 'Cause you're not going to convince us that you're not gonna pay…
- [Sam:] No, we're not trying to convince, we didn't come to beg you. We're trying to tell you there's has to be… if you consider yourself to have a little bit left of a human being, which if I ask you personal question 'What do you do as a human?' you wouldn't be able to answer.
- [Maria:] Alright. You've been warned. You've told us you can afford to pay and you refuse to pay. So, you gonna… the next thing you're gonna get is lien on your property.
- [Sam:] And you are the corrupted government. Corrupted, criminal, in front of us seating. You are pushing us, with this ridiculous property, see, it's a value: your life against money.
- [Olga:] You pretend to be a benign government, a democratic government, and you're using force to extort money from people.
- [Maria:] There's no. What force?
- [Sam:] Force. The police force.
- [Maria:] I'm not saying I'm bringing police. I've never have…
- [Sam:] Oh, so you're pointing on somebody.
- [Maria:] We sell it, and it legally becomes somebody else's home.
- [Sam:] But we are not vacating that house, because we're…
- [Maria:] That's something we'll have to see. The new owner will have to get you out. I don't know what force he'll use.
- [Sam:] See, as soon as you push that button, it's all on you.
- [Olga:] Don't pretend that you don't know what's going to happen. You're saying: oh, this is my little thing, I do it, and I'm not responsible – this is false. Who are you cheating? God is watching you every second. Who are you cheating? Your every step lead to the next step. You know that you can only take us from that property by force, because it's our home.
- [Maria:] I'm not going to force you from the property. The new owner of this home will.

- [Sam:] You push that button, it goes.
- [Rob:] Your decision that's forcing though.
- [Sam:] No!
- [Olga:] Our decision is pure morality.
- [Maria:] OK, well, that's gonna… whatever is gonna happen.
- [Sam:] You know what morality means?
- [Rob:] I do.
- [Sam:] You don't.
- [Rob:] No?
- [Sam:] No.
- [Rob:] OK.
- [Maria:] Alright, well, I appreciate your coming, if you're not going to pay…
- [Sam:] You're supporting immoral, corrupted government. How it can be moral?
- [Maria:] …it's going to get registered. I hate this to happen, but this gonna happen, because you're obviously not paying and you're going deeper and deeper in debt.

-- Sam speaking with Rob --:
- [Rob:] When I buy a property, I know…
- [Sam:] You're chanting about buying or not buying, that doesn't matter. When you will understand what corruption really is…
- [Rob:] If you have a problem with government then why do you say in the city…
- [Sam:] We are God's people, we're born here, on earth. If we have money, we bought a property. So. Whom this property belongs to?
- [Rob:] When you purchased it, it's your property. If I come to you property, would you call on me for trespassing?
- [Sam:] No.
- [Rob:] No? You're just going to let me go into your house and everywhere?
- [Sam:] Come. Come to our house. Come. Anytime. Come! You'll see. That's what true Christians do. But, see… We're growing our food, Rob, with our own hands. We could buy it, because of the money we're making. But we grow. You know why? Because we don't want to be beggars.

-- Olga speaking with Maria --:

- [Olga:] Why don't you pass this over to your superiors? If our claims, what we wrote about this government, if our clams, if anything in them is wrong, take us to court for false allegations.
- [Maria:] What?
- [Olga:] We gave you the whole list of allegations against government, if any of it you find wrong, take us to court.
- [Maria:] I don't find you wrong. You can have all… I'm not trying to prove you wrong in anything, all I'm saying is the taxes have to be paid. That's all I'm saying.
- [Olga:] Taxes have to be paid to a good government. For a government that fulfills its function. It's no longer a democratic government. It doesn't represent people. We don't need that. We cannot support evil.
- [Maria:] And that's fine. But if you're not paying, I don't know… At this point, it doesn't matter WHY you are not paying it. But if you don't pay, it's going…
- [Olga:] That's the only thing that matters, WHY! That's the only thing. We're not crazy. This is our whole life work in this property. Would you be on our place to take this stand, is it easy you think? Just to lose? Because there's a number of options to pay: I can pay one dollar today, and you'll be happy, that's it, you're going to leave me alone. But, what makes me to stand and say: NO to evil?
- [Maria:] Well, you live in this municipality, and you have to pay for the services, to live in the municipality.
- [Sam:] No, we don't have to pay the robbers. We don't use any services.
- [Olga:] There's no services. We don't even have garbage.
- [Sam:] We don't use any services.
- [Maria:] So, you don't leave your home. You don't leave your home ever. You don't drive on the streets, you don't do any of that.
- [Olga:] We barely leave it.

- [Maria:] Well, that's your decision.
- [Olga:] The roads are made by God, right? We're moving somehow.
- [Sam:] If it's going to be dirt roads – be my guest, we can drive by the dirt roads.
- [Olga:] Make the roads payable. We'll pay, why not? What do you say, government makes roads? Government makes the roads? Or contractors make roads?
- [Rob:] OK, we're not God. God doesn't make roads.
- [Olga:] God made earth. We can drive on earth anywhere. Make them toll roads.
- [Sam:] Who needs roads? - Cities. You know why?
- [Maria:] I have to go to a meeting right now. You're not paying this?
- [Sam:] No.
- [Maria:] OK, so if you don't pay for it, Rob and his group will register the lien, so you're not surprise, he'll register the lien. If you do have a mortgage, I'm sure the mortgage company will act on it, right?
- [Sam:] We're nor surprised of anything.
- [Maria:] If not, then it'll go to tax sale.
- [Sam:] Maria, we are ready to die for our words. Are you ready to die for your words?
- [Olga:] We're standing on this till the end. If police will come, drag us from this house, take us to prison…
- [Maria:] I'm not telling you the police will come. We've never had police.
- [Olga:] But how? Who is going to take us out of house? We are not leaving.
- [Sam:] Maria, are you ready to die for your truth? Are you ready? Rob, are you ready to die? You said you're honest, are you ready to die for your morals?
- [Rob:] For my morals?
- [Sam:] Yes.
- [Maria:] I don't think this is about moral thing.
- [Sam:] It is! Every day…
- [Maria:] We're here to talk about your taxes.
- [Sam:] No-no-no, we're talking about morals.
- [Maria:] I'm not here to talk about morals. I'm here to talk about your taxes.

- [Olga:] Maria, you're still young. How old are you?
- [Maria:] What, does it matter?
- [Olga:] Yes, because…
- [Sam:] It does. Are you drinking?
- [Maria:] I appreciate it that you have your opinions. I don't share opinions, but what does it matter is you can have all your opinions you want…
- [Sam:] Rob, do you have alcohol?
- [Rob:] Why is that matter?
- [Sam:] It is! See, your soul, from time to time, vibrates. It shows you the way.
- [Maria:] Sir? Sir! We're not here to talk about what we do and don't do, right?
- [Sam:] See, now you separate yourself, you call me 'sir'. I'm not 'sir'.
- [Maria:] OK.
- [Rob:] Sam.
- [Maria:] Sam.
- [Sam:] I'm a human. You can call me 'human'.
- [Maria:] Yes. I get that. I get that. I thought 'sir' would be an appropriate way to call you. But we're not here,… I have other meetings to go to. I definitely appreciate everyone has their own opinions, own beliefs, and everything, but these taxes are based not on religion or anything like that.[11] They're based on services that the municipality provides, and if you don't pay for it…
- [Olga:] They're based on extortion and use of force against people. And this is – what century we live in?[12]
- [Maria:] Alright, I appreciate your coming. Thank you very much. It's like there's no point…
- [Sam:] It's all on you now.
- [Rob:] No, it's on you, whether you're paying or not paying it.
- [Sam:] No, it's on you. It's on you. It's going to make you a murderer.
- [Maria:] Well, I appreciate your coming down. And now, through the letters and through the verbal conversation you are aware of the consequences of your…

- [Olga:] We've been always aware of what your procedures are. We wanted to look you in your eyes and see how do you understand what you're doing. Do you think those artificial meetings would matter by the end of your life? What are you spending your life for? You're trampling over what's precious, and holding for what's artificial.
- [Maria:] If you want to keep your home, you need to pay the taxes. So, that's your decision.
- [Sam:] We want to keep our soul.
- [Olga:] Exactly. That's the only thing that matters.
- [Maria:] OK, well, that's good.
- [Sam:] You two - you're selling your soul. You're selling your eternal life, which you can get, right through speaking to us. We can give you any presentation, any explanations, to all your city hall. We are the ones two souls, maybe for the whole Canada, who are awaken and know what truth is, universal truth, for all people.
- [Olga:] And this truth is not ours, it's in your conscious mind. It's in everybody.
- [Maria:] Alright.
- [Olga:] No, think about. For yourself, forget about us. Do whatever you think it is. But you'll be responsible. But for your own soul, you'd better quit this job.
- [Sam:] Earth is a breeding ground for the souls.
- [Maria:] OK, thank you for coming, we're going to have to end this meeting, we can't… Thank you very much.
- [Sam:] Thank you, Maria. Rob?

<End of the conversation>

When Jesus proclaimed true well-being to people, he told that whosoever would attain enlightenment and is seeking true life will inevitably have to renounce the entire property*.*

“You cannot serve both God and mammon” is not a rule, but a part of the reality; it is not that is inappropriate, but something that cannot be.

(Lev Tolstoy, "Four Gospels")

Notes

[←1]

Maria's arrogance and blood thirst is astounding. Not only did she not show our correspondence to any of her supervisors, she is eager to finish this case ASAP with a tax sale. Were these rulers smarter, they would keep people like Socrates on a pension for their immense help to people. Similarly, they could let us finish our quiet lives where we are, knowing that we wouldn't be able to sell or pass the property without paying taxes, so they could still grab it all after our death (similar to how reversed mortgage works). No, they are too greedy and repressive and must make a big deal and expel us immediately. Well, they expose their evil themselves.

[←2]

We refer here to our extensive investigation into colonial atrocities of Canada and other developed countries, confirmed by numerous sources (including clarification of the reasons for ongoing Canadian occupation of Mali); we are preparing to publish our collection of facts.

[←3]

Their saying "it doesn't matter WHY you are not paying it" is a direct evidence of dictatorial regime of Canada, repeated several times. By definition, "dictatorial" means: "using power in an unreasonable way by telling people what to do and not listening to their views or wishes."

[←4]

Comparing government to criminals would be too high a compliment, actually. CRIMINALS DON'T DO what government does! Criminals aren't able to extort your property from you; they may take your antiques which you don’t even need for your sustenance. So, who is more dangerous – government or a criminal, whom government uses as a scarecrow to present itself as a protector?

[←5]

By saying that roads are created by God, we mean land which existed before government, on which we all live and can drive by dirt roads (we can make these dirt roads with our tractor). This appears to be their only argument for such outrageous robbery. In such case toll roads would be more ethical, with everyone paying for their own use. But they forget that the ministry of transportation collects for roads. Most important – when the evil outcome exceeds the good (services provided), issues like roads should be viewed as irrelevant and even a bribery, a pathetic handout used to buy off to finance great evil.

[←6]

‘City services’ don’t even cost nearly as much as they demand: $8000 in taxes vs. negligible $175 they spend on city services. Nearly all goes for wicked purposes.

[←7]

They demand us to pay for “the city services are there, whether you use them or not”, with a threat. These hypocrites even dare to say “it’s not extortion”. Is racketeering more suitable word to describe this? Can you picture anyone else doing this extortion except government?

[←8]

They want to extort the property of 38-acres with 7,500 square feet house, which equity is nearly 100 times higher than the taxes they consider us 'owing' ($31,000). Where does the rest stolen equity go? Is there justice at all? Any respect for private property they brag about?

[←9]

Maria describes only the official version of their tax sale procedure. It must no longer be a secret that in reality the game of tax liens is fictitious, i.e. the government always finds fools – bounty hunters – to pay the tax arrears, but they don't typically get them to the auction. It's the next Jew who gets the property, even for one dollar. That also explains why they don't sell the property for its market price and nor return any difference to the owner - they ran a pure theft scheme.

[←10]

Olga is saying that their whole life's work is in this property. It's to mean that even if one assumes that government owns the entire land (which is completely unjustified claim, as land, like air and water, is a gift from God to all presently living), still the house itself - its purchased value and further improvements invested in the property - are earned by the owner. I.e. if government could claim its share of the land, there can be no justification for stealing of what is on that land - the fruits of direct labor of the owners.

[←11]

Here is another hypocrisy. If government tax policies were completely religion-neutral, why do they exempt churches from property taxes, while expel us from our own property for standing up for the ideals of Christianity, which officially Canada pretends to profess (with Catholic schools being part of Canadian education system). The difference is: all those churches of perverted Christianity are government obedience' institutions, while we have, like Christ had, a huge issue with obedience to government.

[←12]

In terms of property rights, expropriating Canada today is worse than despotic Russia in 19th century, which had respected and returned the properties of revolted Decembrists upon the expiration of their forced exile.
